Re: Certification of Compliance under CPSIA

The Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (CPSIA) requires the manufacturer of a product that is subject to a consumer product safety rule or similar rule, ban, standard or regulation under any Act administered by the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) to certify, based on a test or reasonable testing program, that the product complies with applicable safety rules, bans, standards or regulations. Additionally, children's products (consumer products designed or intended primarily for children 12 years or younger) are subject to third party testing through a CPSC accredited laboratory.

We have carefully reviewed Seventh Generation products in the context of these requirements and determined that the following Seventh Generation products are children's products as defined by CPSC and subject to testing and certification of compliance under CPSIA:

- Baby Diapers and Touch of Cloth™ Baby Diapers
- Overnight Diapers
- Training Pants

Please refer to Seventh Generation's Children's Product Certificates for these products available at www.seventhgeneration.com.

Based on the review we conducted in the context of CPSIA requirements, the following Seventh Generation products are not subject to certification of compliance under CPSIA:

- Baby Personal Care Products including Baby Shampoo & Wash, Baby Lotion, Diaper Cream
- Baby Wipes
- Dishwashing Products
- Disinfecting Cleaners and Wipes
- Feminine Pads & Liners
- Hand Wash
- Household Cleaners
- Laundry Products
- Organic Cotton Tampons
- Paper products, including Paper Towels, Bath Tissue, Facial Tissue, Lunch Napkins
- Trash Bags

Please contact Seventh Generation Regulatory Department in case of questions or should you need additional information.
